

Utah Association of School Psychologists

Presents

Parent-Child Relationships: Supporting Children's Happiness

Shannon Suldo, Ph.D.

Thursday, September 23, 2010

6:00-7:00 p.m.

Granite Education Center at 2500 South State Street
Rooms 102-104 (tall building) - Enter west door off Main Street

Light refreshments will be served prior to the workshop

RSVP requested for refreshment count

Send name and email address to: Diana Bowman 801-629-4746 or dianab@usdb.org

Parents of students ages 5-18 are invited to come and learn from a national expert about:

- How researchers study children's happiness
- Average levels of happiness among children with exceptionalities
- Parenting behaviors and parent-child interactions associated with optimal happiness at different stages of development

Dr. Suldo is an associate professor in the Department of Psychological and Social Foundations at the University of South Florida in Tampa. She has made many presentations to parents about promoting happiness in children and youth and to school districts about providing school-based mental health services.

